@4111 (School of Management and Information Building)

Free Admission. English and Japanese are our official languages

OBJECTIVE: There has been much debate over whether immigration has given every country a rich cultural and ethnic diversity. In more recent years, some politicians claim that their countries are being threatened with becoming swamped with the other. We have to update our understanding of globalization and anti-globalization to co-exist in the era of exclusionism and the crises of multiculturalism. The key is to listen attentively to the voices of minority.

Four IR students, Mr. Yuya Yamakawa, Ms. Honami Saito, Ms. Risa Ikeda and Ms. Moeko Sano, will give presentations.

GUEST SPEAKER

Doctor Maria Rosario Piquero-Ballescás

“Broadening Multiculturalism from below? Review and Updates” (in English)

Professor Yuka Ishii will share her research on Singapore’s multiculturalism (in Japanese).
